

THE KITCHEN GARDEN

The original kitchen garden dates from the middle of the 19th century. It includes hop arbours, fruit arches, an ornamental pond, and a semi-circle hedge of Pyrus Chanticleer, all this amongst vegetables and herbaceous borders with the focal point being the sundial which dates from the construction of the house c.1790. The walls are trained with a variety of fruits.

WALLED GARDEN

The long borders contain an abundance of both annual and perennial plants. The walls are covered with a variety of climbers including Wisteria, Pyracantha, Actinidia and Clematis. At the far end is an ornamental pond and a beautiful rose border.

PINETUM

The pinetum contains several mature trees including Brewer Spruce, Magnolia Acuminata, Ginkgo and Blue Atlas Cedar. Many were planted to commemorate various family events. The Shell Grotto which contains fine examples of fossilised ammonites can be found here. At the far end of the Pinetum is the Victorian rock garden which is planted for both spring and summer colour.

MANDALA

This is a parterre garden that draws on Hindu and Buddhist art to reflect the Harris family's Indian connections. It is planted with sweet smelling herbs including Thyme and Lavender.

PLEASURE WALK

A meandering Rhododendron and Hydrangea walk leads round to the Orangery. The lawns to the front of the house contain a selection of specimen trees including Tulip Tree, Handkerchief Tree, Liquidambar and Indian Bean Tree.

Plants and seasonal produce can be found for sale near the greenhouse entrance.
